DEFINITIONS OF PRICING TERMINOLOGY:

- a. 340B Selling Price: The 340B selling price represents the price communicated to the PVP by the supplier or distributor, which may not match the 340B selling price as published by HRSA. HRSA's 340B selling price for a covered outpatient drug is the source of truth and equals the average manufacturer price (AMP) from the preceding calendar quarter for the smallest unit of measure minus the unit rebate amount (URA), and is published by HRSA in the 340B OP21E Pricing component.
- b. Sub-340B Price: The sub-340B price represents the contracted price available to PVP participants that is below the statutory 340B ceiling price. This price has been negotiated by the Prime Vendor with the manufacturer on behalf of 340B covered entities.

RE: Theracom

Please accept this justification memorandum for updating the unit pricing for Theracom. The unit pricing for Theracom needs to match the 340B pricing. The 340B ceiling price refers to the maximum amount that a manufacturer can charge a covered entity for the purchase of a 340B covered outpatient drug.

Thank you for accepting this justification for Theracom.
