Comments:

RND Services is a small business and we are dedicated to making our customers happy by giving them quality work in order to keep maintenance costs low along with down time. As the owner of the business, I, personally have been in the industrial maintenance repair industry for 25 years. I started this company in 2017 and have done an array of different types of welding, fabrication and machining on various types of equipment. From lawn mowers and farm tractors to 785 Lizard trucks. No job is too big or small. We also do field work such as line boring, fabrication and welding. I have all the insurances required to take care of this contract. We have worked for various coal companies in the past 8 years, drilling companies and larger corporations taking care of their welding and machining needs. From full rebuilds to 1 hour projects. As I said earlier, I am a small business and we strive to keep our customers happy. You can reach me around the clock in the event of emergency break downs and we will get you back running. Your larger companies often have set business hours and are unable to reach after a certain time of day. I am always a phone call away and will be happy to help with whatever issues may arise. Thank you for your time and consideration. Ryan Cox with RND Services Inc.
