Dear Shelly,

It was exciting to see the request for proposal for exhibit design, fabrication, and installation services for the West Virginia Independence Hall Museum in Wheeling. Unfortunately this did not come to my attention until June 2nd. This was not enough time for Highland Interpretation to provide a proposal for this project, though we are well suited and would have been happy to have had a chance to compete. Having just renewed my state vendors registration I had not been up to date on projects.

Though this is not a complete proposal packet it is being sent as a way to introduce Highland Interpretation as an in-state full service exhibit company. This project sounds like an intriguing and worthwhile exhibition and in reading your proposal I had several dramatic and engaging ideas that I would have loved to have been able to pursue on this project. You are wished the best of luck in the development of this exhibition and look forward to it's opening.

If there is any way I can be of assistance to you in this project or others please let me know.

Sincerely

Dan Moran
