Quality: Nestlé Infant Nutrition has high standards for quality

Nestlé Infant Nutrition has extensive quality control and product safety policies and procedures in place to ensure the quality and safety of our products. These policies and procedures include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Formulation: Qualified Food Scientists develop our formulations as well as define quality attributes including chemical and physical parameters, nutrition parameters and requirements, and sensory attributes that form the basis for both raw material and finished product specifications. Requirements are translated into approved specifications, and these specifications are then transferred to the manufacturing location for implementation.
- Regulatory: Nestlé Infant Nutrition's Regulatory Department reviews all formulations to assure compliance with regulatory requirements and develops all Nutrition Facts panels and ingredient listings.
- Ingredients and Packaging: Nestlé Infant Nutrition, and/or an authorized Third Party, audits raw material suppliers to ensure compliance with Nestlé Infant Nutrition specifications and quality requirements as well as FDA regulations. All ingredients and packaging materials used in the manufacturing of infant foods have approved specifications. Raw materials are also sampled/tested to verify they meet Nestlé Infant Nutrition specifications.
- Manufacturing: All product production follows Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP's) and approved and validated HACCP plans. Products are processed, packaged and labeled in accordance with Nestlé Infant Nutrition specifications and all applicable regulations. Our manufacturing plants follow detailed procedures for handling and storage of raw materials, formula production and packaging. Manufacturing lines undergo environmental monitoring to ensure microbiological specifications are met. Specification parameters are monitored during and after production. Quality attributes are verified through specific tests as well as sensory analysis of the finished products.
- Complaint Monitoring: Our consumer 1-800 number is available to consumers 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. We monitor all consumer calls and have a defined process for escalation and resolution.

Infant Nutrition Research & Education: START HEALTHY, STAY HEALTHY™

Nestlé Infant Nutrition sponsored the largest single infant and toddler dietary intake survey in 2002: Feeding Infants and Toddlers (FITS). This study has served as the basis for our product innovation and consumer communication and education. Our mission is to help parents raise happy, healthy babies, by providing nutrition education and assistance to choose the right foods that help develop long-term healthy eating habits. This is encompassed in our START HEALTHY, STAY HEALTHYTM initiative.

In 2008, we initiated another FITS study. Data collection occurred from June 2008 through December 2008. Initial findings are expected to be made public in late 2009.

The FITS studies provide valuable information on the food and nutrient intakes of infants and toddlers. FITS 2002 collected data on infants and toddlers from 4 through 24 months. FITS 2008 was expanded to include infants and toddlers from newborn through 48 months. Sample size for FITS 2002 was 3,022 infants and toddlers. FITS 2008 will have a sample size of approximately 3,200 infants and toddlers (0-48 months).

Consumer Services: Nestlé Infant Nutrition is available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, in multiple languages

Nestlé Infant Nutrition wholly owns and operates the START HEALTHY, STAY HEALTHY™ Resource Center, staffed with experts in feeding, food and formula, and breastfeeding. Our experts provide helpful information and assistance to consumers. This service is available in multiple languages and operates 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

Contract Execution Management

Nestlé Infant Nutrition has strong experience in contract change-over and execution management. We have recently executed contract change-over for Pennsylvania's Infant Formula contract effective October 1, 2008, and for New York's Infant Cereal contract effective February 2, 2009.

Should Nestlé Infant Nutrition be awarded the States' contract, Nestlé Infant Nutrition would assign a WIC team and would, together with the States, develop a plan to ensure a successful implementation and execution. Our WIC team would coordinate and supply education materials for use with WIC Staff, participants and authorized vendors. Nestlé Infant Nutrition's Medical Marketing representative would be available to provide staff training. Our sales force would execute retail training including headquarter information updates, as well as store-level cashier and stocking training. This extensive retail sales force, provides store-level stocking and merchandising services to 28,000 retail stores nation-wide, 3,593 of which are located in the Mid-Atlantic mainland states. Upon award, we will provide our full list of retailers in the States' region.

Product Variety: Nestlé Infant Nutrition offers an expansive line of WIC-qualified infant foods

Teaching baby to enjoy a wide variety of foods is an important part of the baby food journey. Increasing the preference for a variety of food tastes and textures can lead to life-long healthy eating habits. That is why Nestlé Infant Nutrition introduced the START HEALTHY, STAY HEALTHY™ Nutrition Guide: products and nutritional information to help moms choose the right nutrition and the right products at the right time, based on her child's readiness cues. All babies develop differently, Nestlé Infant Nutrition provides foods in both taste and texture varieties appropriate for varying stages of development.

Gerber Products Company defined the baby food category with pureed canned vegetables in 1928. Since then, American parents have been choosing GERBER® brand infant foods to nourish their babies and ensure their healthy growth and development.

iv. DISTRIBUTION NETWORK

iv. Distribution Network

Distribution: Dependable, experienced and expansive distribution system

Nestlé Infant Nutrition's distribution system throughout the states serves the vast majority of retail grocers. Gerber's current level of infant foods distribution in an aggregated, representative region of this RFQ (Maryland, New Jersey and Pennsylvania) is over 98%⁴. Nestlé Infant Nutrition's expansive distribution throughout each of the states allows for turn-key contract implementation by October 1, 2009.

Retail Services: Nestlé Infant Nutrition's extensive retail Sales Force will provide turn-key implementation

Nestlé Infant Nutrition offers an extensive retail sales force, providing store-level stocking and merchandising services to 28,000 retail stores nation-wide. In the aggregated region of Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, and West Virginia, the Commonwealths of Pennsylvania and Virginia and the District of Columbia, our retail sales force services 3,593 stores. Upon award, we will provide our full list of retailers in the States' region. Additionally, Nestlé Infant Nutrition will deploy our retail sales force team as part of a comprehensive retail education campaign to ensure excellence in execution during the contract initiation. This contract execution requires the service of an experienced team which Nestlé Infant Nutrition can provide.

Our sales force would meet with key retailers and wholesalers who service the States to determine if any additional space/capacity is needed at store-level. This information will be tracked and fed back to Nestlé Infant Nutrition's Marketing and Demand Planning teams. These teams will meet to build product forecasts based on retailer and State input in order to meet any increase in demand that may result from this contract. With retailer input on timing and initial order estimates, we will be ready with supply as needed. We can assure you that WIC-authorized stores will be stocked and ready before the contract effective date of October 1, 2009. We also have the network to assist the State in notifying all affected parties – including wholesalers, retail food vendors, and physicians.

Current Market Presence in Mid-Atlantic Mainland States

GERBER® represents the majority of the infant foods sales in Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, and West Virginia, the Commonwealths of Pennsylvania and Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Gerber's current market presence of 68%⁵ and consumer preference (as indicated by market share) enables Nestlé Infant Nutrition's turnkey implementation upon award of the new contract.
