Office of Abandoned Mine Lands and Reclamation

Re: Expression of Interest for DEP 14992– Reynoldsville Refuse Design, Harrison County, WV

Dear Mr. Estes:

RPM Engineers, Inc. (RPM) is pleased to submit this Statement of Qualifications to provide professional civil engineering services for the Reynoldsville Refuse Design project in Harrison County.

A West Virginia corporation established in 2004, RPM operates six offices in four states on the east coast. With 18 employees in our Charleston Office (7 professional civil engineers, 3 surveyors, 3 CADD Technicians, 2 environmental professionals, and 3 support staff members), RPM offers one of the strongest, local civil engineering design teams in all of West Virginia.

RPM's engineers have prepared civil engineering design, surveying, environmental documents, construction plans, construction specifications, contract documents, and cost estimates for hundreds of projects across the great state of West Virginia.

RPM recently completed the design of the Stephenson (Mills) Subsidence project for the WVDEP Office of Abandoned Mine Lands and Reclamation (AML). RPM completed this specialty project ahead of schedule and under budget. We worked directly with Mark Proctor, P.E. of the Oak Hill, WV office on this project. RPM also recently completed several Waterline Feasibility Studies for AML&R. These projects were also completed within the schedule and under budget. We worked directly with Eric Coberly, P.E., in Charleston, WV on these projects.

RPM has developed a project specific QA/QC program to assure quality products are produced for this project. RPM will work closely with AML to ensure that all deliverables are prepared to the highest standards...anything less will be unacceptable to our mission. Thank you for allowing our firm the opportunity to submit this Expression of Interest!

Sincerely,

RPM Engineers, Inc.

What People are Saying About Us

RPM's mission to achieve 'Total Client Satisfaction' has been demonstrated by the feedback that we receive from our clients. Here are some of our most recent client testimonials.

- We performed several projects for the West Virginia Department of Transportation, Division of Highways District 5 in 2007 and 2008. These projects were located in Grant, Hampshire, and Berkeley counties. These projects were completed on a very fast track schedule. This was our first job working directly for WVDOH, District 5. After completion, RPM received some of the highest compliments that we have ever received.

The District Bridge Engineer told us that in his 35 year career, that working with RPM was one of the biggest successes that he has experienced. He also wrote that "RPM did these jobs for us, and did very commendable work. Working with the folks at their firm has been a rewarding experience for us here in District 5"- Gary Klavuhn, District Bridge Engineer, WVDOH District 5, March, 2008.

- We performed a design project for the Ohio Department of Transportation, District 7 in 2007. This was our first job for ODOT. After completion, RPM received the highest consultant rating for design services in modern ODOT history.

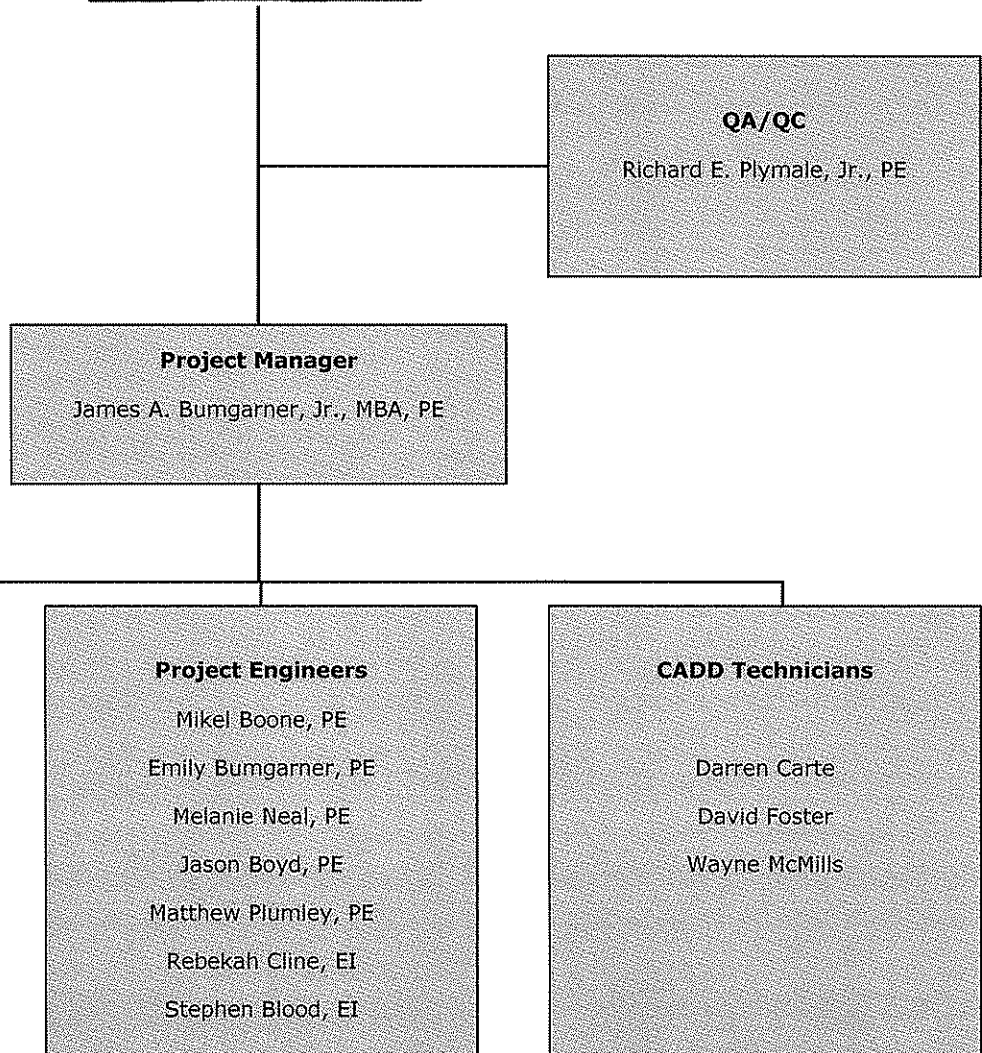

ODOT's Project Manager wrote in the consultant evaluation that "This was a pilot LRFD project for ODOT... RPM was always ahead of the game, and provided guidance on decisions...we were pleased with the work of the subconsultants, and never had to provide any direction to them... RPM turned in exceptional plans more than 30 days ahead of schedule... every submission was early, complete and of good quality." - Amy L. Schmidt, Project Manager, ODOT District 7 Contract Section, September 2007.

- We performed a construction inspection in early 2008 for one of our clients in South Carolina. The client told us that it was the "was the smoothest overhead inspection I have ever had". In

In addition, he stated that "I must also include you and your team at RPM for all of your hard work in making for the successful Overhead Inspection Tuesday at NPES! Thanks for all you guys do. It is very much appreciated!" - Steven Howe, Project Manager, M. B. Kahn Construction Co., Inc., March 2008

These examples are only a few of many positive remarks that we have received from our clients. This feedback reinforces our commitment to customer service. We pledge that if we are fortunate to be awarded this project, we will deliver 'Total Client Satisfaction'.

2.2 Background:

Firms are to be licensed Architectural/Engineering Firms (A/E) and should be familiar with, and have a successful track record of design of similar projects. The anticipated contract will be for "full-service" A/E design. Aspects of the design are to include, but not be limited to, Civil, Structural, Geological and Hydrological.

The successful A/E will be responsible for Design of the following:

Site 1 consists of deep mine portals, household trash, old tire, parts of abandoned vehicles and mine drainage. Field inspection revealed one partially open and two collapsed portals with a combined discharge estimated to be between 50 to 75 gpm; a third collapsed portal was located above the cemetery but had a much smaller flow, estimated at 1 to 2 gpm. The entrance at the open portal measured 18" in height by 48" in width and there was evidence of mine water discharge at some point in the past. Just below the discharging portals was an area containing scattered piles of household trash, old tires, rusted remains of abandoned vehicles and misc. pieces of rusted metal. Field tests of the mine drainage indicated a pH of 3.0 and iron greater than 10 mg/liter.

Site 2 consists of one deep mine portal, coal refuse, subsidence sinkholes and mine drainage. Field inspection revealed one completely collapsed portal located above the refuse pile discharging 4 to 5 gpm; one partially re-vegetated refuse pile, about 20 feet in height and covering an estimated area of one-fourth acre; small, scattered piles of household trash and debris; and 5 or 6 subsidence depressions about 6 to 8 feet in depth by 10 to 15 feet in diameter.

Site 3 covers approximately four (4) acres. It includes two (2) acres of unvegetated, exposed coal refuse scattered throughout the site in roughly four small piles; four (4) abandoned mine buildings made of deteriorated block and rusted metal that range in size from 10' x 15' to 60' x 60'; the remains of a concrete tipple foundation; and old tires, small amounts of rusted metal and mining debris, and household trash. Uncontrolled surface run-off is also carrying coal refuse and fines to Ten Mile Creek.

Site 4 includes unvegetated coal refuse, an old haul road, mine drainage and possibly a collapsed deep mine portal.

Site 5 consists of one collapsed deep mine portal, located within 50 feet of the county road, and a large mine drainage discharge estimated to be between 50 and 100 gpm. The uncontrolled discharge saturates the wooded area next to one occupied residence, making it unusable, and presents a serious health and safety hazard to downstream residents, should a mine blow-out occur at some point in the future.

Site 6 consists of three (3) completely collapsed deep mine portals located within 20 to 30 feet of Rockcamp Run Road. Discharges from the portals ranged from 1 to 10 gpm with evidence of higher flows in the past. The potential for a mine blow-out makes this site hazardous to anyone walking or driving along the county roadway.

Site 7 consists of a 8-10' diameter x 10' high concrete wet-well over top of a vertical opening that extends down into the Clinchfield Coal Compass #2 Mine in the Pittsburgh coal seam, 300' below. An estimated 100 to 150 gpm of iron laden mine water flows out of a 3" pipe, located at about 6" above ground level, indicating the well is full of water. Although the structure's lower section appeared to be in sound condition, it still may be possible to enter the well through a hatch at the top, something that could prove fatal for anyone that might choose to do so. The mine drainage saturates about ¼ acre of the ground surface in an area located between the bridge, Rockcamp Run and the county road. Large pieces of broken concrete, along with two large concrete supports still firmly planted into the ground, are also on site. The well sets 30' from a heavily traveled county road and is easily visible from a considerable distance. The nearest house is directly across the road at a distance of 60 feet, and the Olive Branch Methodist Church is located within 300 feet of the site. Field tests of the discharge indicated a pH of 5.0 and iron greater than 10 mg/liter.

Site 8 consists of about one (1) acre of flat, mostly unvegetated coal refuse near several homes. The material erodes into the nearby stream degrading its water quality.

Site 9 consists of the badly deteriorated remains of a concrete fan house measuring 11' wide x 16' long x 6' high. The owner, Richard Abraham, reports there is a partially filled, 68 feet deep vertical shaft inside the structure with a 10 feet diameter opening. He added that over the years the shaft has been filled by local residents with trash, brush and old wood. Misc. junk, metal and tires now cover the opening making it impossible to determine its exact location. Also, just outside the structure, are rusted bolts and metal that protrude upward from the foundation that could easily impale someone should they trip and fall onto them. The old entrance in front is only partially by rusted metal and can easily be entered. The nearest residence is about 150 feet to the north, across the road.

Site 10 The property owner is concerned about the constant flow of mine drainage saturating a large portion of his front yard. About 75' from his house there was one small seep (about 1 gpm) in the center of his yard, and a larger seep (5gpm) flowing into a ditch, about 50' further to the east. Field tests indicated a pH of 6.7 and iron @ 3 mg/liter. The property is located near the coal crop, down-dip of a fairly large deep mine, which extends south under U. S. Rt. 50.

Site 11 contains an unvegetated refuse pile measuring about 120' long x 100' wide x 50' in height, about ¼ acre of unvegetated gob, and the remains of two concrete tipple abutments. The refuse pile is situated within the drainage of the hollow and allows surface water to percolate through the refuse and into the creek. Field samples of water seeping from the refuse had a pH of 2.8, iron greater than 10 mg/liter, and a combine flow of 20 gpm. The outslopes of the refuse pile are extremely steep and unstable with some evidence of past burning. Also on site are the remains of two concrete tipple abutments about 8' high and 4' in width. Next to the concrete abutments is a small unvegetated gob area that further degrades water in the receiving stream, Turkey Foot Run.

Location Maps are attached (Attachment A1).

Preliminary design documents will be due 90 days from the issuance of the Purchase Order.
