MAULDIN's Silver-16 screed is the most dominating screed offered to date in the commercial paving market. Fittingly, the Silver-16 name is inspired by the captain of the Silver Seven hockey club, Harvey Pulford.

Pulford, a physical defenseman earned hockey fame by captaining the Ottawa Silver Seven to Stanley Cup championships in 1903, 1904, 1905, 1906. During this run of domination the Silver Seven turned back ten different challenging squads.

The Silver Seven's Pulford earned the reputation as one of hockey's toughest players. Pulford regularly punished the opposition with bruising body-checks, a tactic that was not used much in early hockey. Players that kept their head down and got pummel by a Pulford check, probably needed help getting off of the ice.

Catch your competition with his head down by pummeling him with a Silver-16
Make sure he is the one that needs help getting off the mat!
