

Dear Jessica,
Solicitation#- CRFQ 0802 DMV1600000004

Thank you for the opportunity to bid on the requirements based on the configuration of IBM products recommended. We understand the importance of this project to West Virginia DMV and we have enclosed a proposal for the necessary software to help ensure its success.

Prolifics has an entire practice dedicated to providing expert level technical services for IBM software, including the WebSphere Application Services. This focused commitment to IBM allows us to deliver a unique and highly differentiated level of technical expertise to our customers, and is something that our company is recognized for throughout the greater IBM community.

Based on the requirements you have provided; our team has prepared the attached proposal for WebSphere Application Services. On review, we determined there were multiple ways of meeting your licensing needs and have enclosed quotes for each along with a discussion of each.

Option 1: Most precisely conforms to the RFP request. It has 1120 PVUs of WAS ND 560 Prod and 560 Non-Prod. This option includes Yr 1 of Support and Subscription in the initial purchase and two additional renewals to conform to the 36 months of coverage being requested.

Option 2: This version is all WAS ND 1120 PVU's.

Option 3: This version uses a new part for WebSphere Family Edition (<http://www-03.ibm.com/software/products/en/websphere-application-server-family-edition>). This version is more expensive than Options 1 or 2. This is because the license for WebSphere Application Server Family Edition provides Process Value Unit (PVU) entitlement for the bundled product editions relative to their value. For every one PVU of WebSphere Application Server Family Edition purchased, you are entitled to deploy either: One PVU of WebSphere Application Server Network Deployment or Four PVUs of WebSphere Application Server or Eight PVUs of WebSphere Application Server Liberty Core. This version "may" allow for the reduction in renewal costs – Prolifics would be happy to help in making that determination.

Thank you for your interest in Prolifics. We look forward to working with the West Virginia DMV on this initiative and any future requirements.

Regards,

Rob Stichweh

Technical Questions for CRFQ DMV1600000004

Q: The title of the bid is Websphere and DB2 which are 2 different products however the price sheet speaks only about Websphere can you confirm that there is no need to offer DB2 here

A: While they are two different products, it is one solution. From my understanding DB2 is inclusive within the WebSphere solution. WebSphere is the only product using DB2 to store data therefore it should be inclusive.

The only requirement to separate the two is if they are being used as two separate products outside of the WebSphere solution.

For instance, if WebSphere is the only product using DB2 to store data, it is inclusive. If WebSphere and another software solution is both using DB2 as a data solution, then it is a separate product.

Q: I want to bring to your attention that you have changed the qty of the non production to be 560 PVU ( so it is 560 for production + 560 for non production ) - last amendment however you didn't change the qty of the maintenance ( you kept it 840 ( 560 + 280 ) instead 1120 ( 560 + 560 )

A: I'm sorry for the oversight. Yes, this vendor is correct, the maintenance and support should be 1120 PVU.
