ATTACHMENT A

RFI: Questions from vendors for CRFQ DEP 23*22 Dell PowerEdge R6550 or Equal

Q.1. I noticed that for the RFQ – there are no fibre channel cables specified for the servers. Are they needed?

A. No.

Q.2. The solicitation requests a single SSD for data storage, which makes a RAID configuration impossible and causes concern for redundancy and data storage. Our main question is: Does the WVDEP need additional drives for storage and/or RAID configuration purposes on these servers?

A. A single drive is fine. The word RAID is not in the RFQ.

Q.3. Additionally, when Addendum 1 was published, it answered "No" to a question about whether fiber channels were needed on the machines. However, in the solicitation document, line 3.1.1.15 on page 28 requests fiber channels to be included on the servers. We believed this to be an error due to this line being hidden at the top of page 29, but wanted to clarify whether fiber channels were needed nonetheless?

A. No error, We have cables. These servers will be booted from SAN.
