Comments: Cilable is pleased to submit this response to the State of West Virginia's solicitation for Temporary Technical Staffing Services.
Cilable is an advanced technology and staffing company providing qualified IT professionals and technical workforce solutions to government agencies and commercial organizations throughout the United States. Our capabilities include IT staffing, software development, cloud integration, cybersecurity, data management, enterprise systems, and technical consulting.
We understand the importance of providing the State with qualified professionals who can support mission-critical technology operations. Our recruiting team maintains access to a broad network of technical candidates and utilizes structured screening and qualification processes to identify personnel aligned with the State's technical requirements. Cilable is committed to providing responsive customer service, timely candidate submissions, transparent communication, and reliable staffing support throughout the contract period. We will work collaboratively with the State to understand position requirements, identify qualified candidates, and support successful placements. Our proposed rates are based on the estimated quantities provided for evaluation purposes only. We acknowledge that actual usage may vary and that the solicitation does not guarantee any minimum or maximum number of hours. Cilable appreciates the opportunity to participate in this solicitation.
