Addendum for ISCG0149
Addendum 2

0 2

Cable tray installation has typically fallen under the "Electrician" category with regards to certified payroll, prevailing wage, licensing, etc... A BICSI registered installer is less likely to carry the electrical license required to perform the work, and the contractor performing this work is less likely to have a Contractors License for electrical installation.

The bid allows for equivalent to BICSI. For the cable tray portion the electrician's equivalency would be Master, Journeyman, and Apprentice.
