Vendor questions and agency responses

Vendor question:

Q 1. The Minimum Loader lift capacity for the tractor required (per your specifications) is some what an over-kill. With New Holland Tractors to obtain such minimum lift capacity of 4495 lbs, the T6000 series tractors are required with 850TL loader. This is 100hp plus tractor series.

(Question) Is the lift capacity rating incorrect and should be corrected to specify a 60 hp tractor with a front loader requirements, Minimum Breakout force of 4650lbs and minimum lift capacity of 3000lbs.?

Agency response:

A1. After further research we have decided to set the minimum lift requirement at 2,500 pounds, with minimum break out force of 3,400 pounds.

Vendor question:

Q2. The backhoe mounting for a 60hp tractor is correct, but with the tractor I am using TN75 only needs the 3pt mounting system. The increase in tractor size and 3pt strength will handle mounting the backhoe to the 3pt. This is a Woods factory recommendation. (Question) Is the backhoe 4 point mount necessary or can the 3pt mount work as long the factory warranty stands?

Agency response:

A2. Agency requires the 4 point attachment
